Causes of Decline of Mughal Empire

Intolerant policies of Aurangzeb

- The religious and Deccan policies of Aurangzeb contributed to the empire's decline.
- His hard-headed attitude towards the Marathas, Rajputs, and the Jats turned away the loyal warriors, and he went on making more enemies without having strong alliances.
- His religious policy alienated the Hindus

Weak Successors

- None of Aurangzeb's successors could give any stability to the empire.
- Absolutely inefficient and puppets in the hands of powerful nobles.
- Wars of succession plagued Delhi from 1707 to 1719 CE too weakened the empire.

Nobility Crises

- Mutual rivalry, jealousy and contest for power among the various groups reduced prestige of emperor, but also contributed to the decline of the empire.
- Nobels weakened the military by amassing income from the jagirs for themselves and cutting down the number of troops.

Ineffective Mughal Army, Neglect of Naval Power, and invasions

- Mughal army became inefficient and demotivated after losing many important battles.
- Neglect of naval power by the Mughals also cost them dearly.
- External invasions of Nadir Shah and Ahmad Shah Abdali took a heavy toll on imperial treasury and laid open inefficiencies of the military and political administration.

Depleting Economic Resources

- Increased number of amirs and their ranks or mansabs left little land to be distributed
- Aurangzeb tried to solve the problem of acute shortage of jagirs or bejagiri by showing enhanced income from the jagirs on record. But amirs tried to recover the recorded income from their jagirs by pressurising the peasantry.
- So both the amirs and the peasantry were antagonised which resulted into wars, the reduction in khalisa land, all of which burdened the state.
- Expenditure of the state exceeded its income.
- The once flourishing trade did not enrich the empire's coffers even as the inroads by European traders grew along coastal India.
- These economic and administrative problems only multiplied following the death of Aurangzeb.

Weak Administration Machinery

- Government of the Mughals was a personal despotism and so its success depended on the character of the reigning ruler.
- The later Mughals were worthless and neglected the administration.
- The degeneration of the rulers led to the degeneration of the nobility, with factious quarrels and intrigues costing the empire heavily.
- The empire had become too vast and unwieldy to be efficiently governed under weak rulers, especially under the existing conditions of transport and communication.

Shifting Allegiance of Zamindars

- Two classes shared the power during the medieval period, the zamindars and the nobles.
- Zamindars, hereditary owners of land, k/a rais, rajas, thakurs, khuts or desh mukhs.
 - helped in collection of revenue and in local administration
- Mughals had tried to curb the power of zamindars and maintain direct contact with peasants, but could not succeed.
 - zamindars helped the nobility to carve out independent kingdoms for themselves.

Rise of Regional Aspirations

- Aurangzeb's reign it witnessed powerful regional groups like the Jats, Sikhs and Marathas defying the authority in their bid to create kingdoms of their own.
- Continuous struggle against the empire for political ascendancy weakened the empire considerably.
